

John W. Guckes is a consultant to the medical device industry, specializing in ophthalmology. Mr. Guckes also serves as Senior Advisor to the CEO, CorneaGen, Seattle, whose mission is to eliminate corneal blindness by 2040.

Mr. Guckes is a former executive with Bausch & Lomb (Rochester, NY), one of the world's best-known and most respected eye healthcare companies. Mr. Guckes' career with Bausch & Lomb spanned more than 30 years. During this time, he served as Vice President- Global Cataract Strategy, Vice President- Global Cataract and Vitreoretinal Equipment, Vice President- Asia Surgical, Vice President and General Manager-Global Surgical Instruments, and Global Marketing Director- Storz Ophthalmics International Division. His career has focused on business development and geo expansion in Asia and Europe and on developing and marketing industry leading ophthalmic devices. Mr. Guckes is recognized for strong strategic leadership, integrity, and the development and mentoring of business leaders throughout the world.

He is a board member of 911 Vision Foundation and a former board member of the Eye Bank Association of America. Over the years Mr. Guckes has participated in numerous ophthalmic industry and professional committees and activities. He is an active member of his local church.

Mr. Guckes holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree (Magna Cum Laude) and Masters in Business Administration, both from the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Mr. Guckes and his wife, Kathy, reside in the St. Louis area. They have lived in Singapore, Hong Kong, Rochester, N.Y and Monarch Beach, California. They enjoy spending time with friends, their five children and their families. They also enjoy skiing, spending time at their Ozark cabin, traveling and staying in touch with their friends across the globe.